

Neural Networks in the Brain .The neuronal network is responsible for consciousness in the brain.

Hello my name is Mirosław Magola and I'm searching for people worldwide who can lift objects made of metal, ceramic, wood or plastic off the floor, against the force of gravity without any aid.

If you can do similar things like in the short video-clip e.g. holding objects against your hands or your head, and move them vertically or in circles; please contact me, I would like to you to join interdisciplinary scientific projects.
